Hi John,

I lost my backpack during a school trip recently.

We were visiting a science museum and I left my backpack on a bench while I was taking some photos. I only noticed it was missing when our group was getting on the bus.

I was really worried because my phone charger, wallet and some important school notes were inside. I immediately told my teacher and we went back to look for it.

Unfortunately, because of this situation, I missed the last part of the museum tour and couldn't take part in a quiz with my classmates.

Luckily, someone had found my backpack and taken it to the information desk. A museum employee gave it back to me after I described it. I was so relieved!
